Start on the star. Do one row a day.

The practice grid consists of 7 rows of horizontal lines. Each row is divided into four columns corresponding to the stroke types: 'Under and over', 'Up and straight down', 'Up and loop down', and 'Descending loop'. Each column begins with a pencil icon and a star indicating the starting point. The 'Under and over' column shows a wave-like stroke that goes under the line and then over it. The 'Up and straight down' column shows a vertical line going up and then straight down. The 'Up and loop down' column shows a vertical line going up and then looping back down. The 'Descending loop' column shows a vertical line going up and then looping back down in a different orientation. Each row contains two examples of each stroke type, with the first example being a solid line and the second being a dotted line for tracing.
